

Mr Glen Boreham

Managing Director, IBM Australia and New Zealand

Glen Boreham is the Managing Director of IBM Australia and New Zealand having been appointed to this role in January, 2006. He manages a business with annual revenues of over $4 Billion.

Mr Boreham began his career in 1986 with IBM Australia. Since then, he has held senior positions in IBM across sales, general management, business development and operations. Mr Boreham has substantial global experience having worked for two years in Japan and over six years in Europe.

Mr Boreham is also the Chair of Screen Australia. Screen Australia is the Australian Government's agency responsible for developing a competitive film and television industry while providing support for projects of cultural significance.

In addition, Mr Boreham is a member of the Business Council of Australia. He is the Chairman of the Advisory Board for the University of Technology, Sydney, a Director of the Board of the Australian Information Industry Association, and serves on the Board of the Australian Chamber Orchestra.

In 2009, Mr Boreham was appointed to the Government's Information Technology Industry Innovation Council. And in both 2007 and 2009, he was named by the Australian Financial Review as one of the top five most powerful leaders in information industries.

Mr Boreham holds a Bachelor of Economics from the University of Sydney, and completed a Managing Director's programme from The Wharton School, University of Pennsylvania.